

Titli Lyrics English Translation Satinder Sartaaj

Maybe while searching shall reach till me
I have even deliberately hidden a possession
Maybe he smells the fragrance of love
I even deliberately perched the butterfly upon the flowers

The nectar accumulated from the roses by bees
They have unfurled it on the leaves of lotuses
The group of honeybees mesmerized with our passion
They have gifted the extracted honey from their beehives
I have entwined nectar and honey in the words
I have deliberately created sugar syrup of pure love

When my song like beloved glances lovingly
Then that gives me a sense of pride
Sometimes he turn into a child in the lap of words
And at another instance he become Sartaaj amidst the poetry
Just with the hope that someday he will definitely ask
That is why I deliberately narrated his poem on though

Made a golden colored nest woven with desires
And even hanged it on a branch of hopes
In those tender dreams have been dozing
I have also colored them pink
Today delivered a message far and wide via alluring winds
Have deliberately spread the news of flying
